

Boost for grassroots golf

Youth Golf Network Chairperson Dr Janice Khoo receiving a cheque of S$100,000 from David Ng, Senior Vice-President and Chief of Marketing at leading life insurance firm Prudential, with Minister of State (Trade and Industry) with Teo Ser Luck. Photo: OOI BOON KEONG

View all 0 comments

Like 1 | Pin it | t | g+1 0 | Tweet 1

BY ADELENE WONG

PUBLISHED: 27 NOVEMBER, 4:01 AM

At the Orchard Country Club last night, Youth Golf Network Chairperson Dr Janice Khoo (right) received a cheque of S$100,000 from David Ng, Senior Vice-President and Chief of Marketing at leading life insurance firm Prudential, with Minister of State (Trade and Industry) Teo Ser Luck (centre) looking on.

Started in 1997, the Community Youth Golf Programme sees up to 400 secondary school and junior college students learning the sport.

To date, more than S$200,000 has been raised this year with the support of corporates and individuals.

View all 0 comments

Like 1 | Pin it | t | g+1 0 | Tweet 1

Related news

Gallery: PA initiative to help detect malnutrition among the elderly
2 NOVEMBER 4:00 AM

Workgroup is 'first concerted effort' to tackle SME issues
2 NOVEMBER 1:00 PM

MPs stunned by Palmer's resignation
1 NOVEMBER 2:00 PM

Inside Sports

OUE is title sponsor of Singapore Open badminton championship

Spurs pile misery on Magpies

Movers' men frustrate Gunners